

ART LEAGUE ELECTS DELEGATES TO BELOIT

The president of the Art League, Mrs. C. A. Sanborn, presided at a meeting of that organization held yesterday afternoon at the library. Mrs. C. P. Clark was elected a member. The French organ taken care of last year by the league. The following delegates were elected to attend the state convention at Beloit, Wis., to be held Oct. 21-23 at Beloit: Mesdames C. A. Sanborn, H. H. Faust, G. F. Ehringer, J. F. Thorne, S. E. Peuber and T. C. Howe.

The program was a memorial to those artists who had died during the past year. It was in charge of Mrs. Bertha Sayles Hall. She mentioned William Evans, the art collector who gave 100 paintings to the National gallery at Washington. The speaker who was an expert on oriental porcelain; Frederick Layton of the Layton Art gallery, Milwaukee; Henry Dickinson, a sculptor who was killed during the war; Darius Cobb, the portrait painter; and Charles Yarbrough, Turner who was celebrated by his paintings.

The biography of Kenyon Cox was given by Miss Edna Chapell, as well as that of Archibald M. Willard who painted the "Spirit of '76". The work of Frank Duvenek was described by Mrs. William C. Curless who spoke of his work as teacher in Cincinnati. Julius Stewart was spoken of by Mrs. Stephen Grubb who described his work at the Paris exposition. She also had the subject of the early colonial artist, Edward Loring Henry. Kate Blakelock, Julian Storer, and Evangeline Blashford were all mentioned by Mrs. Hall as noted students of art who have passed away during the year. Helen Hyde, a student of Japanese art and methods was also noted.

MORE MONEY NEEDED FOR STRICKEN TEXANS

With only $145 subscribed toward the relief fund for the residents of Corpus Christi, Texas, who were made destitute by the tidal wave and a hurricane an effort is being made to increase the fund at once. Janesville people in the past have always been liberal in their contributions toward any relief fund and it is hoped that they will again subscribe to assist the stricken Texans.

Up to the present time only six subscriptions have been received but it is hoped that hundreds of others will be in before the end of the week. Send your contribution to the Relief Fund, Gazette.

Oshkosh, Oct. 11—Mayor John G. Joachim appointed his commission to investigate, observe, and report on the condition of the city of Oshkosh, and gave them the instruction to "go to the bottom of it all." The man appointed was selected from a variety of suggestions and was one who came into direct contact with large numbers of people daily.

Rexford First Head of Machine Company

In an article recently printed in the Gazette relating to the origin of the Janesville Machine company the name of J. D. Rexford as first president of the company was omitted. Mr. Rexford was elected the first president of the company and was incorporated in 1881. He remained as head of the organization until 1894.

TRAVELETTE BY NIKSAH

OUR STUDIO BUILDING. Our Studio Building is in Chicago. It is practically no convenience but simply reeks with atmosphere. These two circumstances are nearly always synonymous of studio buildings. As the artist becomes older and better able to pay his bills, he seems also to become more commercial and less happy-go-lucky. Bonds and bohemianism do not mix. Various artistic vagaries seldom harmonize, and this is a great consolation to those many artists who are little burdened with worldly goods. They take deep breaths of the city and scorn all those who are living in what they commonly call "bourgeois bliss."

Of such are the tenants of Our Studio Building. No door boy greets you there. Unquestioned you may ascend the old worn stairs with their wide balustrades and landings adorned with plaster casts which seem to start out from their niches at you in the dim light. A peculiar odor of turpentine, paint and cooking comes more insistent as you go. Empty milk bottles, groceries, the community sink and a new hat taken down in the hall, all the artist pursues his domestic life.

In the studio at the top you will be welcomed with a "hello" unless you are a bit collector. For bill collectors alone is reserved the antique stiletto which hangs in a convenient position near the door. The two beautiful and much undiscovered geniuses who live there scorn all such materialism. For example, after a long period of penury one of them received a commission to paint a portrait sketch for which he was given three crisp new $20 bills. But did he take on the practical and saving ways of the affluent? On the contrary, when his confidant returned he found one of the $20 bills tucked down on the floor so that its owner might walk on it, and thus enjoy to the utmost his feeling of superiority to mere mundane wealth.

Foolish, happy, impractical days are spent in this studio. Its floors are bare of carpets. The walls are covered with sketches and paintings. Its furniture is of the scantiest and most rickety, but nevertheless there is a feeling of opulence about it. Its tenants are rich in dreams.

Flower Banker Dies. Appleton—Peter Tubbs, Seymour vice-president of the Wisconsin bank of that city; trustee of the Outagamie county asylum, and former chairman of the county board, died suddenly of heart failure Wednesday. He was a Civil War veteran who went to what is now Seymour in the northern section of Outagamie county, in 1868, and bought land for $4 an acre.

FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

Restaurant Manager. By Elizabeth Miller. From Manager of the Y. W. C. A. luncheon to proprietor of one of the best caterers in the city and overseer of another is the record of Miss Grace Smith of Toledo, Ohio.

By persuading the Y. W. C. A. management to admit men to the luncheon she was able at the end of the year to pay off the old debt and put the luncheon on a good paying basis for the first time.

That was several years ago. Today many young women are opening up restaurants of their own. A young lady in Cleveland has recently opened a noon-day luncheon in a neighborhood where she knew there was a big need. As a result, men and women from three large office buildings eat there every day. It is so clear and attractive that many people from outside that district are coming now, too.

Restaurant management isn't the haphazard thing it used to be. Many people are forced to eat down town these days that scientific knowledge of food and a good executive head are required of the girl who makes a success of it.

One of the most popular fads among college girls in the east is the tea-room. These are proving quite profitable, especially at the summer resorts.

For the girl who lacks the capital and business ability to open a restaurant there are other ways of making money. School, Y. W. C. A. and factory lunchrooms all employ managers now. Large department stores pay big salaries to their lunchroom managers and kitchen superintendents.

Many of these positions have been filled by women who have come up from the ranks and who are increasing demand, however, for the girl who has a knowledge of dietetics and institutional management in addition to the ability to cook and pepitizing food.

GOVERNMENT WANTS CENSUS ENUMERATORS

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Racine, Oct. 11—The director of the census, Sam L. Rogers, has announced that 80,000 enumerators will be needed to take the next census. The work begins January 2 and will last about two weeks in cities and a month or more in rural districts. Rates of pay will vary, depending upon the locality and character of the district to be canvassed. The census of 1910 was about $70. At this coming census it will probably be not less than $70.

These two circumstances are nearly always synonymous of studio buildings. As the artist becomes older and better able to pay his bills, he seems also to become more commercial and less happy-go-lucky. Bonds and bohemianism do not mix. Various artistic vagaries seldom harmonize, and this is a great consolation to those many artists who are little burdened with worldly goods. They take deep breaths of the city and scorn all those who are living in what they commonly call "bourgeois bliss."

Forester. By R. S. Alexander. Because Rob Andrews was interested in trees his father suggested that he become a Forester.

Accidentally Rob set about obtaining information on the subject. He wrote to the Forest Service Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. From this service he received many bulletins and circulars. Some of these were sent him free; others he had to buy from the Bureau of Forestry, Washington, D. C. Among the latter was Circular 207 of the Forest Service on the subject of "Profession of a Forester." This told Rob just what he wanted to know about the opportunities in the profession.

He found out that he could enter the service as a ranger after a brief course in forestry in a school and a civil service examination in the subject. Or he could take a four year course and become a professional forester. Rob chose the latter.

He completed his course in the school which from government reports seemed to be doing the best work in the subject. When he finished, he found five possibilities open to him.

He could pass an examination and go into the Government Forest Service. Here he would be engaged in the conservation of forest lands owned by the Government.

He could go into the forest service of some state. Here he would educate the people of the state to take proper care of their forests and would work for laws protecting them.

He could work for a lumber company, developing plans for the care and use of its standing timber and for the reforestation of its waste lands.

Again he might set up as a consulting forester—that is, have an office in a large city and do forestry work for private parties when needed in the manner of a lawyer or doctor.

Or, finally he might teach or do research work in a school of forestry. (Next week: "Commercial Artist.") Boys' and Girls' Newspaper Service Copyright, 1919, by J. H. Miller

So Long, Jazz; Death Knell Has Sounded

Good-bye, shimmy. So long, jazz. The death knell for the latest dance creations in Janesville has been sounded and the young folks who have danced all the dance halls each night will have to be content with new dancing edicts or they will have to seek other places to trip the light fantastic.

George L. Hatch, manager of Hatch's dancing studio, in consultation with other dance managers in this city, decided to place a ban for all time on the shimmy, the so-called coote crawl, and check-to-check dancing.

Mr. Hatch in discussing the labored dances, said that at a meeting of the National Dancing Teachers association held at New York several weeks ago, the majority of the leading dancing teachers of the United States and Canada decided to place a strict ban upon the dancing.

In discussing the placing of the ban on the dancing, Mr. Hatch said that if the younger folks failed or refused to live up to the rules governing dance halls, the matter would be taken up with the city authorities and if necessary other steps would be taken.

WISCONSIN FOREMOST
CRANBERRY STATE

Madison, Oct. 11.—The production of cranberries in 1919 for the United States is estimated at 550,000 barrels, based on October 1 conditions, according to a report by Joseph A. Becker of the Wisconsin cooperative crop reporting service. The forecast for September 1 was 537,000 barrels and production in 1918, 350,100 barrels.

Practically the entire cranberry crop of the country is produced in the three states of Massachusetts, New Jersey and Wisconsin. The Massachusetts crop is estimated at 75 percent of a full crop. Average price to growers October 1 was $7.70 per barrel (100 quarts). Harvesting will be completed by October 15.

The New Jersey crop is estimated at 75 percent of normal, or a total production of 155,000 barrels. Cost of picking is the highest known, running up to $1 per bushel.

Wisconsin's crop will run 97 percent of normal, with a total production of 145,000 barrels. The crop is 95 percent harvested. No frost damage reported. Pickers are being paid from 60 to 55 cents per hour. The crop is of good quality.

NO REAL HOPE FOR DRY REPEAL.
A great deal of protest has been voiced against nation-wide prohibition under the new constitutional amendment, especially in the larger cities. The metropolitan press of the east has been generally disposed to denounce what it calls minority rule, and to say that prohibition is coming next January against the wishes of the people generally.

It is a significant fact that none of the opponents of prohibition has made a prediction that the dry amendment will be repealed. Even the most disconsolate owe a great part of their gloom to a certainty of belief that prohibition is coming to stay, that there will be no escape from it.

Does this support the charge that the majority of the people are against prohibition? Hardly. Even the most disappointed probably believe, deep inside of them, that public sentiment will never favor a return of the saloon. We have been more or less dry since July 1, and nothing terrible has happened. Men are managing to get along somehow without liquor, and are finding ways to use the old drink money, without having to try hard. Even the Gay White Way continues to glitter, though on short and secret rations. We hear talk of cases where violent and unusual stimulants based on mixtures of wood alcohol have done deadly execution, but we doubt whether such cases are numerous. Neither do we believe that we are going to, become a nation of drug addicts. In fact, we are getting along quite well, and even the irreconcilable will in time become reconciled. They are saving money.

OBSERVATIONS
A few weeks ago over at Waterloo, Iowa, occurred the annual Dairy Congress and Imported Belgian Horse Show. It was the privilege of the writer to be present on one of the days when seemingly most of the people of Iowa were present. On this particular day 10,000 people thronged the grounds and buildings and enjoyed one of the best exhibits of fancy stock and horses that have ever been brought together anywhere. There were fancy dairy herds of every well-known breed from over Iowa and some fine specimens from distant states.

The Congress has come to be a fixed institution for Waterloo and reminds one of a good county fair, with the exception that everything practically is housed. A mammoth stock judging pavilion with a seating capacity for 7,000 people is one of the new buildings erected this year at a cost of $35,000, money subscribed entirely by Waterloo people.

The hotels are unable to accommodate the crowds attending the congress, and people of the city open their homes to the visitor.

Waterloo is a beautiful city; this is true of other Iowa cities, and one is impressed with the foresight exercised by the builders of these towns in providing for the future in wide streets. The main thoroughfares are wide their entire length. Waterloo has nearly 100 miles of brick and asphalt pavement, the beautiful Cedar river running through the center of the city and there are several large city parks, delightfully located.

The river is spanned by several handsome cement bridges. There are two large high school buildings, one of which would do credit to a city several times its size, which by the way, is about 35,000 population. Waterloo is a city of churches, many handsome edifices and more building.

The same general features of city planning were apparent at Cedar Rapids, a city of greater population and with an abundance of beautiful trees. The foundation for the progressive growth of Iowa and her cities lies in her agriculture and the special attention to stock and horses will add to the great wealth of the state. Iowans have been "dry" so many years it is reflected in the high type of citizenship of the state. After all though, Wisconsin appeals strongly to her citizens when they reach the boundaries of the old state on the way home.

BAR THE REDS!
Representative Johnson of Washington, chairman of the foreign affairs committee of the house, has the right idea about checking immigration, and is to be encouraged in his effort to extend wartime restrictions another year.

Not content to stay in the earthly paradise which they have created in Russia, or to go to it if they chance to be living in other countries, the bolsheviks are crowding every foreign port, awaiting a chance to come to America, the land of the hated bourgeoisie.

We do not want those people, now or at any other time. They wish to come here to profit by our institutions, and then to seek to overthrow them, on the ground that they are based on capitalism. If they disapprove of our system, let them manifest their disapproval by giving us absent treatment.

We used to take a good deal of pride in the fact that our country was a haven of refuge for unpopular elements from other lands. Now we suspect that we have overdone the haven business. We have many among us whom we are anxious to get rid of, let alone admitting more like them.

We have plenty of room for the honest, industrious, and law-abiding, who would make useful and loyal citizens. The country is suffering from a labor famine. Let us hope that while excluding the Reds, Representative Johnson can frame a measure that will permit some of the desirable elements to come in.

THE CONSOLATIONS OF THE PAST
We moderns are disposed to pity our great-grandfathers because they had to live in the inconvenient days before electric lights, telephones, automobiles and appliances were invented or discovered. It was hard luck for them, being born before the world really got going properly.

In those days the tinsmith made a farmer's lantern like this: He lay a rectangular sheet of tin on a lead block, and with a hammer and chisel he made a myriad of incisions in fancy patterns, something like those mother puts in the top crust of an apple pie. This work finished, he rolled the tin sheet into a cylinder, soldered the edges, and fastened in a tin bottom, containing a candle socket. Next he soldered on a conical roof and attached a little door to one side, each of these also having been decorated with fancy incisions. Lastly, there must be a metal ring or loop attached to the top of the lantern to carry it by, and it was ready for service, when provided with a candle.

When the homely and serviceable kerosene lanterns came in, the old perforated lanterns went out of vogue.

JUST FOLKS

Edgar A. Guest

THE BOY'S WORLD.

I wish the world were only what that rascal thinks it is—
A place for him to romp in and a playground for his fun;
I wish that he might never lose his dreams, but cling forever
To the happiness of waking when his nights of sleep are done.

Oh, his eyes are wide with wonder at the sights that he
And there's nothing round him but was fashioned for his joy!
He loves the world each minute, and he's glad that he is in it,
And I watch his radiant visage and I wish I were a boy.

Every growing thing is lovely and I wish that it would stay so,
His eyes have not discovered any trace of human care;
He has yet to find the badness in the world or feel its sadness,
For to him it is a garden that is gorgeous everywhere.

I wish the world were only what my laddie thinks it is—
A place for his amusement and a playground all his own.
But I pray he'll cling to laughter, through the years that follow after,
And not lose the joy of living when life's care and grief are known.

Copyright 1919 by Edgar A. Guest.

Some of us, when boys, had the fun of kicking them to pieces, because they were no good any more.

Now we wish we hadn't been so hasty. We realize that there is real beauty in the old perforated lanterns with their quaintly symmetrical designs, and when we go to an art shop or antique store we are lucky to find one to buy.

Do you realize that the making of stained glass is practically a lost art, as compared with the standards of five centuries ago? Have you stopped to think that not a single worth-while new idea has been advanced in furniture design in the past 125 years? The Brothers Adam, who plied their craft about 1800, were the last to introduce a style worthy of a name. Most of the furniture that we buy now is adapted from Adam, or William and Mary, or Chippendale, or some other old school. The patterns are all simplified, to make quantity production in factories possible, and in this simplification, some of the old beauty is lost.

There is a reason for the interest that many persons take in the household articles of a century or two back. Unhurried hand-craftsmanship and honest materials, skillfully wrought into objects of use and real beauty, gave the men and women of the time possessions worth keeping and preserving for later times.

THE CITY CLERK'S JOB.
The resignation of Victor E. Hemming as city clerk leaves a vacancy which should be filled by an overseas soldier, if there is one who would accept the place. A number of our young men who were wounded and unable to do heavy work have returned. Among them should be one who is qualified to take the job. The city council will make a selection next Wednesday at a special meeting and if applications are received from soldiers they should be given first consideration.

Their Opinions

Any unprejudiced observer will tell you that Albert of Belgium is much more democratic both in manner and in the exercise of authority than is our fellow townsman Victor Berger, and Dan'l Hoan wouldn't refuse to invite him to come to Milwaukee. Anyway, not if Dan'l knows what's good for him.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

There will be no alterations made in the text of the league and peace pact, this being quite certain through the course of the mild reservation Republicans. It does look as if the president may yet win over this group and who knows how the great fight for our national integrity may turn out anyhow.—Racine Journal News.

The formal thanking of General Pershing seems to have been as impressive as it was unusual. And it takes a good deal to impress congress and the frequenters of the congressional galleries too.—Wausau Record Herald.

Now the question arises whether the boys that made those records throwing the hammer at the track meets, are able to pitch a forkful of hay to the second story of the barn?—Marquette Eagle Star.

Army airplanes are a drug on the market in France at $40 each. Too bad they are not in this country, for some persons could make use of them as cheap Christmas presents.—Oshkosh Northwestern.

Teaching Health to Girls

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN, Director,
Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau,
Washington, D. C.

New York, Oct. 8.—There is no excuse for not feeling fit. Colds and headaches are a positive disgrace. Anybody can achieve a maximum of health, and keep it, if he really puts his mind to it. The trouble with most of us is that we are too lazy.

This is not an advertisement for a patent medicine, but a statement of the novel doctrine now being preached and demonstrated at New York's new health center for women—the latest thing in preventive medicine.

From 15 to 20 women and girls are examined here every day, and placed on the right road to health. If necessary, they are directed to clinics or hospitals for medical or surgical treatment, but in the majority of cases the prescription consists of nothing more painful than exercise, fresh air, proper clothing and diet. This sounds too simple to be efficacious, but you should hear these doctors at the health center talk of the simple causes that are often responsible for low vitality and poor health.

Ankles Swell Mysteriously
For example, a young girl who came up for examination the other night was sure she was a victim of kidney trouble, because within a few days her ankles had begun swelling mysteriously every night. She appeared wearing a scared but resigned expression, walking slowly to the stairs to be examined.

When she departed she looked like a different girl, and the steps meant nothing in her way out of all. The doctor discovered that organically there was nothing the matter with her; that the trouble with her ankles was due to the fact that she had recently moved to the country where she was compelled to walk two miles from the station every night after sitting all day at an office desk, and this walk was performed in ill-fitting, high-heeled shoes. "It's a wonder that her ankles didn't rebel entirely," said the doctor who examined her.

The object of the health center is to point out these small but important dangers to the health of women, and to teach them good living habits. The majority of girls had been brought up by a sort of blind instinct as well as by their early boyhood training in outdoor exercises, but women, handicapped by long centuries of superstition and a fear of being unduly like, must be taught, step by step. If a man has too many headaches, or a pain in his back, he usually rushes to see a doctor, but many years without finding out the cause.

"This is the worst habit of all," says Dr. Florence Meredith, director of the center, "and the worst trouble is so easily corrected."

Poor Posture Causes Pain
"For instance, most pain is caused by poor posture," continued the doctor, thrusting her straight shoulders forward to indicate what she meant. "This throws the organs out of place, restricts circulation and weakens the abdominal muscles. If I could correct only one thing, such as this, I would correct the weakness of the abdominal muscles, which impairs the entire circulation."

When Dr. Meredith speaks, you feel she knows what she is talking about. In the first place, she herself radiates health and energy, and in the second place, her own experience has been such as to make her an authority on the health of working women. As plant physician of a large rubber company, she has seen thousands of women, and later, as a lecturer on health topics to war workers, she acquired a large understanding of, and sympathy with, their problems. The experience has led her to believe that heredity and environment play relatively a small part in the health of the average individual.

"Some of the diseases we believe to be hereditary," she declared, "but this feature of heredity has been greatly exaggerated. We have so many girls coming here, blaming their mothers and fathers for various inherited disabilities, really due entirely to their own bad living habits. Maybe their mothers and fathers had the same bad habits, but there is such a thing as progress."

No Use to Blame Things
"Bad housing conditions and cheap food unquestionably make it harder for a person to keep well, but he can at least make the best of his environment. It doesn't do any good to sit around blaming things. Get what you can out of them. Every one has his maximum health within his grasp and many are putting up with a minimum."

This is not mere idle philosophy on the part of Dr. Meredith, for she and the other doctors who run the health center actually show girls and women how to get the most out of their environment. In this they are aided by the Y. W. C. A., which provides certain necessary props such as gymnasiums, tennis courts, swim-

RETROSPECTION

If I had my life to live over again
And could know all the things I know now,
I'd tower with the proudest of my fellows
And I'd make folks take notice, I vow.

I'd start making money when seven years old,
I would pinch, I would scrape, I would save
I'd scheme and I'd plan for a fortune untold.

I would work, I would toil, I would be a slave,
By trickery dark, by deceit and by guile,
I would pile up the gold my life through.

I would saddle the world by the whip
And the power of my wealth—
And then maybe I wouldn't. Would you?

Perhaps I would never take time to enjoy
The enchantments of nature and life,
But would use every moment that I could employ
In the whirl of the money mad strife.

I probably never would have time to feel
A small bit of passion for those I relentlessly crushed 'neath my grim untold.

Or to lessen their torture and weep,
It may be I would never find time to go
Up to heaven's superb vault of blue
Or to hear the birds warble their glory.

But I guess that I would, wouldn't you?
One can scarcely help congratulating the writer in the Topeka "Capital," who says: "We recall that our year's earnings in 1918 were about $100. We made more than that in the first four months of 1919."

If our own vote is equal to Great Britain's six, why isn't Great Britain satisfied with one?

For the sake of our so-called peace, let it be hoped the Prince of Wales and President de Valera of the Irish republic do not meet while on their American travels.

THIS MAN KNOWS
Tell me not in mournful numbers,
I'm a poor fellow, in 1918 I was poor.
For old Barleycorn still slumbers,
And near-beer's not what is soeign.

Organizer of steel strike says "A day is a pittance." If it is, we wish we owned a pit.

THE SAME AS TAXES
Touring in south Jersey we lapped a sign, "Chance Cemetery." There isn't such a thing as a certainty. Ain't it the truth?—ixion.

Having decided on the perfect 35 model of woman, I have been given as measurements for the perfect man: Chest, 36 inches; waist, 34 inches; hips, 36 inches. That all. No light on height, hair, corns, warts, dimensions of ears, calf and so on? Maybe we would do?

Wouldn't you be "vexed" if you should walk into a delicatessen store and find a lot of army food on the shelves?

"Eat more vegetables and less meat," says a health expert. A financial expert probably would give the same advice.

The Gazette maintains an information bureau at Washington, D. C., under the direction of Frederic J. Haskin. Questions will be answered on any subject. Those desiring information, please write a letter to the Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau, Washington, D. C., and enclose a stamp. The letter will be answered by the bureau.

Q. Is it possible to send merchandise to Germany? T. L. S.
A. The embargo has been lifted on goods sent to Germany. During July, the last month for which figures are available, two and a half million dollars worth of American goods went to Germany.

Q. What is meant by store delivery? R. F.
A. England and some other countries the railroads handle a freight shipment from the door of the shipper to that of the consignee. This manner of handling freight, eliminating the detail of arranging haulage at each end, was advocated during the war as a better method than that in use here and as a possible help toward relieving congestion.

Q. Has the co-operation of such bodies as the Y. M. C. A. and the American Library association with the army and navy ceased? T. A.
A. The war department and the navy department are preparing to take over the war work of these agencies on Nov. 1.

Q. What is the bill of largest denomination used by the treasury department? L. W. K.
A. The largest bill is a ten-thousand-dollar gold certificate. There are also gold certificates for $5000, $1,000, $500, $100, $50, $20, and $10.

Q. What is the distinction in the use of "each other" and "one another"? C.
A. Strictly speaking "each other" refers to two individuals, and "one another" to more than two. It should be said that two children play with each other, but that three play with one another. The terms are, however, quite freely interchanged by good writers.

Q. What was the origin of blotting paper? R. F.
A. One day early in the nineteenth century a paper mill in Berkshire, England, a careless workman forgot to put in the sizing during the manufacture of a lot of paper and the whole went to the waste. The proprietor tried to write on the worthless paper and discovered that the ink would spread all over the surface. He discovered if it under the name of blotting paper. This incident led to the use of blotters.

Q. Who were the four American correspondents who accompanied the German army in its drive through Belgium? G. H.
A. Edwin R. Connelley, John T. McCutcheon, and Fleuret-Bosch were with the Germans during part of this drive.

Q. How many Americans were given the French Croix de Guerre? Y. C.
A. There were approximately 11,000 Americans who won this honor, according to the latest figures of the war department.

Q. How often does a deer shed its horns? H. G.
A. The biological survey says that a male deer sheds its antlers once a year and grows a new pair.

Q. How long would the money expended by the United States in this war have carried the Revolutionary war? T. Z.
A. At the rate of cost of the Revolutionary war, the money could have been carried on for about 400 years with the money we spent in two.

Q. How did the government get its flour during the war? D. H.
A. It bought the wheat at the fixed price, took this raw material to the mills, studied the mills to determine the cost of grinding a barrel of flour at each of them, paid them that price, plus a profit of 25 cents on each barrel, and took the flour away.

Waukesha Cow Wins Honor.
Waukesha.—A Waukesha cow has won an exceptional honor for this county in the national dairy show in Chicago. Cavalier's Kilford Bell 117, having been placed by the judges as the senior and grand champion of the Ayrshire breed. This cow is owned by Adam Seltz, prominent Ayrshire breeder.

Admiral Beatty, Wendover, owned by the Wendover farm, Bernadaville, N. J., won the grand championship bull banner for the Ayrshire. Judging of the Guernseys followed that of Ayrshires. It is expected that the decisions will bring more honors to Waukesha county.

An interesting Holstein cattle sale was held in connection with the show, at which a bull sold for $5,000, and all the animals sold averaged $300 each.

Resume of Moving Picture Programs of Last Week

Large audiences which taxed the capacity of the moving picture houses were present at each performance Wednesday. The service men in uniform had free admission to all theaters. In spite of the other attractions, they seemed to enjoy the privilege and appreciate the good programs presented. The picture shown at the Beverly, although a sad story, was put on in the most artistic manner by Sessue Hayakawa, who impersonated a poor Japanese artist, and then deserted. When this man tries to tempt him to aid in counterfeiting a note, he is killed in a duel. Later he becomes interested in the widow, and rather than shadow her life he assumes blame for the crime and burns the evidence which might free him. It was called "The Grey Horizon."

The story of the martyrdom of Ananias, during the year 1918 was told in a series of graphic pictures showing the terrible suffering and misery endured by Aurora Martinelli, his wife, at the Alcatraz for three days. While they seem too revolting to be true in this day, yet ample testimony of United States officials proves them to be absolutely true. It is called "The Auction of Souls." Capt. Stanley Lewis of the U. S. government recruiting department using the picture in securing recruits for the U. S. marine corps. He gives a talk on the subject at each showing of the pictures. There was a solemn hush over the audience as the incidents of the story were shown.

"The Apollo had a pretty and attractive story, told in an entertaining way. In "Human Desire," in which Anita Stewart impersonated a wait, a convent bred Italian girl who wandered to America. As a child she had been fond of a Madonna picture, and when she was picked up by an artist upon his steps she helped in taking care of a baby he was using as a model, and poses in a picture as a madonna. Later the artist adopts a baby, that she may have one to care for. When the artist's wife appears at the studio there is trouble immediately. Anita leaves. The wife of the artist is killed in an accident. Anita is found by the artist and brought back to his home. She is a finished and artistic actress and always refined and pretty in her ways.

In spite of the large crowds attending the theaters Wednesday the state laws in regard to crowding and filling the aisles were strictly enforced. The exits were kept free and open in every case and people were not allowed to stand in the aisles or in any place where their presence would hamper movement in case of fire.

News Notes From Movieland

BY DAISY DEAN

Antonio Moreno has had another narrow escape from death—not an unusual thing for a star—but this one was different. It happened to be the very first episode of his new Vitaphone serial, which is being made in the vicinity of Los Angeles, Cal.

The scene had been staged in Griffith park. It called for an explosion of dynamite in a hut as the hero rode past on his horse. Unfortunately the horse kicked up such a dust that the man who was to set off the charge couldn't see just where Mr. Moreno was, and he let go at the wrong time.

Moreno was almost directly against the hut. The explosion knocked him from his horse and landed him in a gutter several feet away. He was sore, both literally and figuratively, but no bones were broken. The horse was also cut up a bit. The camera man got a fine bit of action, but it was not suitable for the story, and the hut had to be rebuilt and blown up again. His injuries were not serious, but the bruises were sufficiently painful to cause Tony to proclaim again his intention of returning to feature dramas where there is not so much horse play. And it is rumored that he is to have his wish upon the completion of the present episode drama, providing a suitable story can be secured.

CINEMA SNAPS. George Walsh, entering morena, was a crack athlete at Fordham university.

Nicholas Donnan, who appears with Gladys Brockwell in "The Devil's Middle," was born in Russia, where he studied to be an artist.

A San Francisco woman's club has voted William Farnum the title of the most realistic lover on the screen.

"OLD LADY 31" play by Rachel Crothers.

Crothers, the author of "A Little Journey," is to be made into a movie.

"Old Lady 31" is the story of an old sea captain who is admitted to a home for old women to prevent his being separated from his wife when she overtakes them.

Maxwell Karger is directing the film version. Two other plays by Rachel Crothers have been made into movies. They are "The Three of Us," and "A Man's World."

Maudie Traverso leaps from a galloping horse in "The Heritage of Eden."

The American Legion

Do You Want To Join the American Legion?

Possibly you are a service man who has heard a lot about this organization that is growing out of the ranks of those who wore the uniform during the late unpleasantness, but possibly you have not known just how to proceed that you might become a member.

If this is a fact, then this advertisement is written for you.

The American Legion is a great order that has developed during the past six months. It is sweeping the nation. It has been endorsed by President Wilson, Secretary Baker, and General Pershing. It has been chartered by the congress of the United States. It admits to membership officers and men, those who went overseas and those who did not.

—army, navy, marines, nurses, marinettes, and women (f).

The whole story of the American Legion, how to join it, how to form a new post if there is not one in your part of the country, or your part of the town, the addresses of the officials, state and national—all the facts that you would like to know about the Legion—have been compiled and printed. They are ready for distribution through the Washington bureau of the Daily Gazette.

For good measure each applicant will get the Job Book, compiled especially for service men, directing them how to get a job and how to read for self-improvement. Be sure to fill out the coupon as indicated, enclose a two-cent stamp for return postage, and mail today. The service is free.

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE.

In reply to "A WORRIED MOTHER": Your daughter and the man should marry by all means, otherwise there would be difficulty about the money the man leaves upon death. Your daughter and the children would have no claim on him this way.

Tell them to go to some other city, register at different hotels and then apply for a marriage license, giving their hotels as their address. Then they can be quietly married by the justice of the peace. There is little chance that anyone would discover the fact that they were so recently married. It would be impossible to date the record back to the date they were to have been married.

I can see how hard it is for them to marry now since they are both accepted as married. Tell them, however, for me that for the sake of the children they should marry at once. The boy's father was wrong in not letting the girl go to his home and had no money to send her back home. He proved his love for her by keeping her so faithfully and lovingly all the time. Minors should be helped to do the right thing by their parents and not forced to do wrong.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 16 years old. A boy friend has deceived me and it made me very unhappy. I am now with all my power to get on, but still I can't forget.

Please tell me how to be happy again, for the future looks very dear for me. As a man thinketh he is. If you have made up your mind to be "dear," nothing can stop you until you try with all your power to change your mind in a hopeful and happy attitude.

"When you find yourself thinking sorrowful thoughts, busy yourself at something. Read and work to keep your mind active and your thoughts directed toward wholesome and happy things.

When you have made up your mind to be happy again and notice the pleasant things that happen to you every day, you will forget the boy and his deceitfulness.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young man 21 years of age, and for the last year or so I have been going with a girl two years my junior. I love this girl truly and everything would be all right but for my parents objecting to my marrying her because she has Indian blood in her.

Do you think I should let that stand in my way and drop her, or should I ignore my parents and marry her anyway? The girl is 19.

Most Americans are proud of Indian blood. Mrs. Woodrow Wilson is proud that she has it. It is not let that stand in the way of marriage if I were you. Your age, however, is a drawback; you are too young.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Will you please publish a recipe for sweet pickles? Also can you tell me what eggs away for use during the winter?

W. A. N.

A good recipe for sweet pickles: Put pickles in strong salt water and leave overnight. The next morning put on the stove and bring to a boil enough vinegar to cover, sweeten with sugar to taste and put in about a teaspoon of celery seed and two tablespoons of whole mustard seed. Pour the mixture over the pickles after they have been put in cans. The mustard seed keeps the pickles.

Put eggs in crocks and cover with water glass, which can be obtained in nearly every drug store.

She Married an Average Man

By ZOE BECKLEY.

I have been wondering for days whether to tell Jim about Eric Sand's letter, written from the military hospital at Vichy. I should have hesitated a moment when I saw Jim's readiness to snap judgment.

While it is not precisely a love letter, there is no question as to its being immediately understandable. The passage, for instance, where Eric says, "To live at all, I have forced myself to think of you."

But after a man has lain wounded on a battlefield for two days, amid the bodies of the killed and the death for weeks in a strange land, tended by alien hands, however kind, he is not in a normal condition of mind. With weak body and shattered nerves, you write—well, almost anything.

Especially a man of Eric Sand's type—the gentle, introspective student type of man.

However, I have no feeling of guilt in regard to Eric. In our brief friendship we spent more time in tramping the lovely English country than in talking love. There may have been an underlying, unspoken sentiment of tenderness, for we were both very young and just getting our first thrilling taste of life and man-and-woman comradeship. And it is very dear to me.

"How I should love to send something to Eric Sand's Christmas season," I said to Jim tonight. He gave me a poor little letter from him. He'd been wounded in the war.

"That chap still writing to you after he knows you're married?" asked my husband.

"He doesn't know. He didn't get my letter telling him."

"Well, then, I don't see that you can do anything but wait till he does know."

"I—we could send him a parcel of delicacies or small comforts, dear," I suggested.

I pity the soldiers.

GEORGETTE SUIT BLOUSE OF DARK COLOR IS IMPERATIVE FOR THE WINTER SEASON

By ELOISE.

Never did a fall and winter bring forth more varied and delectable blouses than this year. They are unusually varied in line also. The blouses to be worn outside the skirt seem to have reacted upon the regulation models, to be tucked inside the skirt, and both are alluring enough to tempt women to extravagant buying.

The vogue of the separate skirt, by-product of the vogue of the pepum or chemise blouse, works round in a circle to add to the enthusiasm over the blouse and skirt. It is the blouse, however, that is the key to the success of the separate skirt.

But the snocks, pepum and chemise blouses, one simply cannot keep away from them when one talks of blouses, though it must be admitted that not all of them are pretty; that a vast percentage do not, when worn, look half so charming as they do in sketches that, indeed, they are exceedingly unbecoming to many women.

They have a reprehensible tendency toward sloppiness. Their fullness does not stay where it should stay, their lower sections muss and wrinkle. Their belts slip out of place and yet—And yet they are charming when worn by the right figure and in the right way.

Dark blouses to match the suits will be very fashionable this winter. Georgette, of course, the accepted fabric. One wonders what we did before Georgette was put in the market. This novel blouse is of walnut-colored georgette. It is embroidered on the cowl collar and pepum in the same shade, and beads of a bright orange shade are placed in a conventional design in the front. The three-quarter sleeves fall in graceful folds and have piped edges. This blouse with a plain skirt would make a charming afternoon costume.

JANES AND ALBANY MEET IN LAST GAME OF BASEBALL SEASON

BRINGING UP FATHER

NEW YORK TO TRY REAL PRO FOOTBALL

New York city will get its first taste of professional football on a large scale tomorrow, when the crack Massillon (Ohio) "Tigers" invade the metropolis for a game with an eleven recruited by the owners of the New York Giants.

Professional football has long been an established institution of profit in Ohio. Because of the rivalry existing between a number of cities in the Buckeye state, professional teams have from year to year reaped rich harvests, and afforded former star college players a source of lucrative income.

In big league baseball circles, magnates have a number of times discussed the possibility of professional football as a means of utilizing their ball yards as a time when they would ordinarily be of little or no use. The New York contingent this year decided to test the possibility of the game and a team of former college players was recruited.

The game with Massillon will indeed be a test. In New York the Massillon "Tigers" are hailed as the greatest star aggregation ever assembled, and the statement comes very near being the truth. The "Tigers" this year have no less than seven All-American men, among whom are Talmont and Nash of Rutgers, Sulherst, Herron, Thornhill and Peck of Pitt, McGinnis, of Lehigh, Doran and Coffall of Notre Dame, as well as a dozen other lesser lights representing perhaps as many colleges famous for their good football eleven.

If the experiment in New York proves a success, it is expected other big league cities will follow the lead of the Giant owners and back teams. There is the added possibility of a major league of professional football teams. There is some doubt, however, as to whether the plan will pay in New York, because Gotham gets many high class college games each season, and of course football is a college institution, first, last and all the time. The experiment is going to be watched closely.

Reds Split on Series Coin; $5,225 Apiece

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 11.—Cincinnati Reds yesterday divided their world series money, amounting to $117,157.35, as follows: Frank C. Bancroft $1,000, Hank Schreiber, $500, Charley See, $300, Matty Schaub, ground keeper, $250, Lou Wolfson, press gate tender, $100, Club house boy, $50, Doc Hoskins, trainer, $2,612.65, Pat Duncan, $2,912.67; each of the twenty regulars, who were stars the club all season and Manager Pat Moran, $5,225.33.

Each of the twenty-three players on the club, Manager Moran, Trainer Hoskins and Business Manager Bancroft also received $149.91 as a dividend from exhibition games played by the club this season.

London.—There is a rule at Wood Green's municipal dances that says: "No lady must have both feet off the ground at once."

KARST, DALTON AND WILLIAMS WILL DON CARDINAL UNIFORMS

Janesville's champion basketball team who last year copped the premier honors at the A. A. U. tournament in Chicago will enter the field this season with an even greater aggregation than was presented during the season 1918-19. Eddie Karst, who last year was declared to be the greatest player participating in the tournament at Chicago will captain this year's quintet and will be reinforced by Rollie Williams, "Hotsey" Dalton, Ray Elder, and Eldridge Piffard.

Karst has signified his intention of donning the Cardinal uniform and will be seen in action in every game the Lakotas play during the year. Rollie Williams, one of the greatest guards in the middle west, will also be on hand and will take care of any of the flying forwards that visit the local floor.

Arrangements are now being made for the opening game which will undoubtedly be played in Janesville shortly after Thanksgiving. Several Wisconsin colleges are anxious to book games with the Cardinals and it is the desire of the manager to bring the Carroll college five here for the opening game of the season.

Working in conjunction with the Fairbanks Morse five at Beloit the local management expects to bring some of the fastest teams in the country to Janesville during the season. The Beloit five will again present a strong five which will include the Woods brothers, former stars of Illinois university.

One thing is certain this season and that is that Janesville is to have another winning basketball team. Last year after getting away to a poor start the team was built up and finally capped in entering the A. A. U. tournament and winning the championship from the New London team.

Plans are now being made to bring the New London team to Janesville for a game. The New London followers were not satisfied with the beatings given them at Guyon Purdise last year and want a chance to redeem themselves. The northwesterners will have the same aggregation on the floor this year headed by Ralph Hertz, the dashing Indian forward.

Games have already been booked with the Whiting Owls, the Detroit X. M. C. Toledo Rail Lights, Cleveland Crescents, and the I. A. C. Word has also been received that the Springfield Training school, winners of the national championship for the past three years, are to make a trip through the west this season and every effort possible will be made to bring the team to Janesville. The probable line-up of the Lakotas this year will be: Karst, left forward; Piffard, right forward; Elder center; Dalton, right guard, and Williams, left guard.

"ZEPHUS" MADE HIM STEAL London.—The novel plea that nervousness occasioned by the Zeppelin and airplane raids on England during the war had caused him to steal was entered by counsel for Alfred Harpham. "My client has never been sane since the narrow escape he had in three bombing raids," the solicitor declared. The magistrate reserved decision in the case.

FAMOUS FOOTBALL STAR, W. VETERAN, RETUL TO PIT

James de Hart.

James de Hart, a member of the wonderful grid team which represented the University of Pittsburgh in 1917, has returned to the university and has been elected captain of the team for the coming season. He enlisted in the aviation corps and served in France.

THE KIND OF A BACK FOR STAND-UP WORK

New York.—How to select people for stand-up jobs is a simple matter to the tensile technologist, Dr. Clinton F. Ashorn. There are three types of persons, the doctor declares—the flat-backed, the narrow-backed and the broad-backed. Those who never tire are the men and women who have flat hips, and broad, flat backs. The person with a narrow back adds, lives easily and cannot stand long on his feet. The broad-backed make excellent workers, unless you try to feed them too much meat. They are natural vegetarians.

The sacrum, or the lowest five bones in the spine are the tell-tale of the future. If a child's sacrum becomes curved, the person will not be fit for any kind of stand-up work and will appear lazy.

SPORT SNAP-SHOTS

BY JACK KEENE.

No more picturesque character adds color to baseball than Kid Gleason, manager of the Chicago White Sox. The old kid is a rare judge of human nature, a clever handler of men and under certain conditions a man handler of exceptional ability. Despite the fact that the kid celebrated his fifty-fourth birthday on Oct. 6 he could, if the occasion demanded, thrash an opponent on his thirty. This does not include Dick Keer, a pugilist of ring experience.

Thirty-three years ago Kid Gleason began his career as a baseball player. At that time he knew far more about the art of curving a baseball than he knew of the rules of rhetoric. He was a pitcher, and a good pitcher. He made a name for himself with the Williamsport team.

While Jimmy Callahan was manager of the White Sox Gleason was his first lieutenant. When Callahan stepped down, yielding the reins to Clarence Rowland, Gleason was second in command, but really the one behind the throne. When it was decided to dispense with the services of Rowland there was only one choice for his successor, and that was Kid Gleason.

The kid was a pitcher with the old Giants and then he moved along to the Orioles, and later to the Philadelphia Athletics. He was a pitcher who played second base and there have been but few who excelled him in the art of stopping and throwing hard hit grounders. He is a fighter who seethes with fight and instills the fighting spirit into his men.

The best drop-kicker who ever lived, on the word of the greatest drop-kicker who ever stood on a football grid, is a man pointed for Harvard and will enter college next fall.

Arthur Brickley is his name and he is a man who stands like an extravagant statement is none other than Charles Brickley himself. When charged with brotherly love, he has never been known to backbite, who has never had an equal in drop-kicking, replied:

"I'm proud of the kid sure. But I'm standing a man who has been proved in actual competition. We've started together on the 10-yard line and moved gradually to the 100-yard line, and as a rule I've been the first one to miss. He's a perfect wizard with the football, and a better drop-kicker this minute than I am."

"He has picked up naturally, under my coaching, what took hours and hours of practice for me to acquire. Hardly a day passed for 10 years that I did not do some work with the football, and he is as accurate and dependable at 17 as I ever was. I'm not boosting the kid—just watch him!"

Arthur Brickley weighs 165 pounds at 17, and is an athlete, but has never played football. He has been in the service of Uncle Sam during the war as were his brothers, Charles and George, and now he is at Worcester academy, preparing for Harvard.

Two or three years ago his football mentor decided to keep him out of the game until his freshman year in college rather than have him hang up or get a bad start through the lack of proper coaching. The boy is so anxious to begin, however, that Charles Brickley is

J. H. S. ELEVEN GOES INTO ACTION TODAY

With a big crowd of rosters on the side-lines, Janesville high school's football team is battling the Delavan eleven at the fair grounds this afternoon in the first game of the season for both teams. Coach Lewis planned to give every candidate a chance to show his ability under fire today. The probable lineups at the start to be:

J. H. S. DELAVAN

Other blue and white candidates were to be given a chance in the game today as follows: Tustand, Toller, Scanlon, Marquard, Gesslin, Morrick, Bonniom, Claxton, Austin, Smith and Barriague.

Scout practice was held at the fourth ward park last night in preparation for the game today. The whole squad showed up well.

London.—Announcement is made here that the World's Press Congress will be held at Sydney on October 15, 1920.

PURDUE-ILLINOIS GAME IS IMPORTANT

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Chicago, Oct. 11.—The football team of the western conference (Chicago and Northwestern) were to make their 1919 debuts today, which also was to mark the first clash of two "big ten" eleven. The contest between Illinois and Purdue held chief interest because it will eliminate one of them from the race for championship honors. The unusual interest was displayed, in the Chicago-Great Lakes naval training station game and the Northwestern-Duquesne game. Chicago will be represented by an eleven of unknown possibilities, while Northwestern has been figured as a "dark horse" in the western conference race.

Nebraska, defeated 18 to 0 a week ago by Iowa, is expected to fall before Minnesota at Mankato on Saturday. The third round on split one of the other games of interest unless much improvement is shown. At Madison, Wisconsin was to go into action for the second time, meeting Marquette.

ST. PAUL CHAMPS ARE BEATEN AGAIN

Washington Park Los Angeles, Oct. 11.—In a game featured by a fist fight between Umpire Murray and members of the Boston team, the Tigers won the third game of the series with St. Paul for the Western Minor league championship here yesterday, 2 to 1. Byron Houck, pitcher of the Vernon team, struck out eleven men and allowed but six scattered hits. After Houck tore the Boston team in three innings, Umpire Toman examined and threw out a ball Houck was using. Dick Nicholas pitched a tight game for the visitors. The Coast Leaguers now lead the series, 2 to 1.

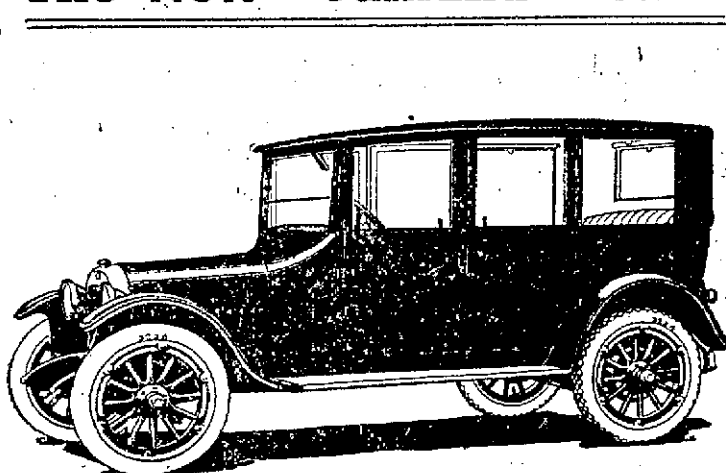

Jack Sharkey Beats Marino at Milwaukee

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 11.—Bantam Jack Sharkey, outpointed Young Marino in ten rounds last night. Marino was knocked down in the second. Benny Vogel stopped Sharkey in the third round and Johnny Montlesohn shaded Johnny Helderer in ten rounds.

MOONSHINE IN IRELAND

London.—Illicit distilling of whiskey in the West of Ireland is increasing, owing to the higher tax on spirit. Police in the Ballyshannon and Charlestown districts have confiscated numerous stills but the flow of moonshine liquor in that section continues.

"Do You Still Crank Your Ford"

—Do you still wade 'round in the mud on rainy days to get your car started?
—If you stop for a moment and kill your engine, do you still have to get out and wind her up?
—Do you think it necessary to be a slave to the crank?

Thousands of Others Have Quit--Why Not You

Thousands of other Ford owners have ended their cranking careers; they now step into their cars, USE THE UNIVERSAL STARTER and are away in less time than it now takes you to pull the priming wire on your Ford, and they don't run the risk of a broken arm or a sprained wrist.

Can Be Installed in 30 Minutes

Installation harmless to your car. Made of drop forged steel, and not a penny of upkeep in sight. A child can operate it in perfect safety. Back-firing can neither harm driver or starter, protected by our automatic release.

"NEW UNIVERSAL STARTER"

GUARANTEED FOR THE LIFE OF YOUR CAR $29.50 SOLD ON A POSITIVE MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE INCLUDING FOOT PRIMER AND HOT SHOT BATTERY

Guaranteed to work perfectly as long as your Ford will run. This guarantees the whole starter or any part of it. It's sold on a money-back trial. If it is not perfectly satisfactory we'll take it off your car and refund the purchase price. We know that's a strong guarantee, but also know that the Universal is perfect. Every part of it drop forged steel, and experience has proved that it will withstand the most severe abuse. It's absolutely foolproof. Don't confuse the "Universal Starter" with others you have seen for sale. This is its first appearance in your territory. You must see it demonstrated to appreciate it. At the price this starter is offered you can within a short while save the cost of Universal Starter in gasoline and oil wasted in letting your engine run. Guaranteed to start any FORD that will crank. Demonstration stores are now located in most of the important cities in the United States and the territory in most of the States has already been sold. Counties in your territory may be closed any day. ACT NOW.

Live Agents Wanted! Be Our Agent—Make Good Money Selling Our UNIVERSAL STARTER. The Universal sells itself. If you want a proposition that will bring unusually big returns for a nominal investment, write or wire, and preferably see us NOW for agency in your city, county or section. Some choice territory still open in Canada, U. S. and Mexico.
